

Home from Home in Spain

Between the “Estacion” and the “Pueblo” of Jimena de la Frontera, 30 miles due North of Gibraltar is the finca (villa) Huerto de Los Almendros (the almond plantation). Both the Estacion and the pueblo have small supermarkets, as well as a range of other shops, bars and restaurants.

This house was the home of an artist and her husband who were one of the first Northern Europeans to settle in this lovely “white village” in the heart of Andalusia. The house’s location was chosen for the quality of light that it enjoys, as well as the stunning views over the valley beneath.

View down the drive & over the valley

The house is furnished to a very high standard both inside and out in an English country house style but with some Spanish touches. There are more details on the inside of this leaflet.

The House is ideally situated for exploring the “real” Spain inland from the Costa including the gems of Ronda (which can be reached by train up the stunning Guadiaro river valley), Gaucin and Casares. If the bright lights draw you though, the Costa is just 25 minutes drive away.

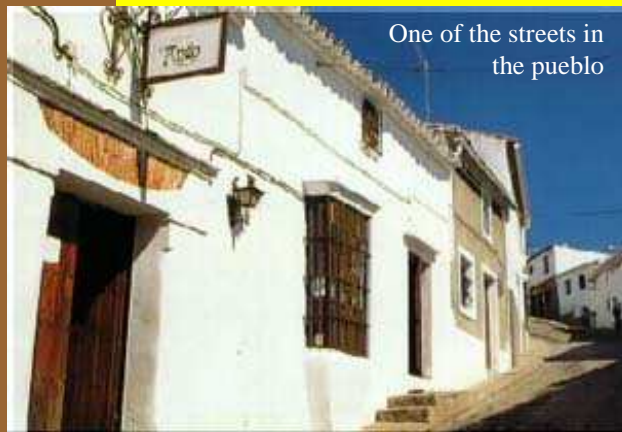

We are also fortunate in having a charming Spanish couple living in the next door cottage, who will be only too happy to answer your questions about the region.

View towards the pueblo of Jimena

Prices start at just £350 per week.

One of the streets in the pueblo

Huerto de Los Almendros

The property lies about half an hour by car from the airport at Gibraltar (Easyjet from Gatwick, BA from Heathrow as well as Monarch from Luton & Manchester) or an hour and a half from Malaga (served by flag carriers (BA etc), low cost airlines (Easyjet, BmiBaby, Flybe, Jet2 etc) and charters) or Jerez. The property can be reached by public transport (coach or coach/train, up to 3 services a day) but most guests hire a car.